It's that time of year again! The final AGM of the Society of Editors (Qld) Inc., and the first SGM of Editors Queensland, promises to be a great social evening as well as a time to get down to business.

Come along from 6.30 pm to catch up with friends and colleagues. Tea, coffee and cold drinks will be available, as well as a selection of tantalising canapés (vegetarian and gluten-free options included).

At 7.15 pm, President Kerry Davies will give a short rundown of the year's activities and achievements and introduce the formal agenda. Please address enquiries about the meeting business to secretary@editorsqld.com.

Please consider nominating for a committee position or offering support in a specific work area. To maintain the momentum as we formally transition into IPEd, we need new volunteers in several areas.

Following the formal meeting business, our guest, Rachel Amphlett, will entertain us with 'One author's indie publishing journey: frontiers, perceptions, opportunities and success'. Rachel is the author of seven novels, with three more due to be released before the end of the year. If you think this sounds brave, take pause with this: Rachel's self-published thrillers – 'international intrigue' is the genre – have been downloaded in the hundreds of thousands, and her writing has been compared to that of Michael Crichton and Robert Ludlum. Rachel's passion for writing is supported by her serious approach to running a business (she's run a number of businesses, including a pub) and, based on her success so far as an author, she's convinced that indie publishing is the 'frontier' where huge opportunities are lurking for those bold enough to seize them – writers and editors alike.

For catering purposes, please register your attendance via the IPEd Member Portal by 12 noon Monday 5 September.
